WE will at once rebuild our warehouse, and will have it completed by the 15th of September, but by the first day of that month we will be ready to receive goods on store

The goods will be divided into five proof compartments by brick walls, and covered with tin Those who have patronized us for the last two seasons, and those who may have never employed us, do so the ship coaching one, may rest assured we will be ready for them.

We design establishing a Cotton Compress in connection with our warehouse, upon an adjacent lot, which will be ready by the 1st of October or sooner. The proximity of our establishment to the river renders the handling of cotton so convenient that we can transfer cotton for shipment by river free of drayage. The advantage of the position is equal to one dollar per bale on all cotton sent for compressment from other warehouses, while on all cotton in our warehouse for compressment there can be two drayages saved, since it would be as easy for us to transfer it from our shed to the compress as to turn it out in the ordinary way for transfer by drays ☞ Liberal advances made on Cotton in store or for shipment to our friends in New York, Boston or Liverpool. Sugar, Molasses, Bagging, Rope and Bale Ties constantly on hand and for sale at lowest prices.

THE undersigned have made extensive arrangements to supply the demand for these Ties the present season.

In addition to the FASSMAN IRON TIE and BUTTON TIE, so extensively used heretofore, we now offer his celebrated TIE, with teeth so arranged as to instantly clamp the hoop when the pressure is removed from the lever, and it will not slip.

Great pains have been taken to secure the best quality of Iron.

These Ties are so simple in their arrangement that they can be applied by any one, to bale as rapidly as with the same facility and celerity of application, there will practically be no delay with any yet introduced.

The advantages of iron ties are now generally appreciated, but it is deemed not out of place to call the attention of those interested to the very emphatic recommendation of Underwriters, steamboat Captains, and Owners and Agents of Steamers and Sailing Vessels, recently published in the newspapers in New Orleans.

Our Latest Improved

NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE.

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

499 Broadway, N. Y.

THESE Instruments, after the most flattering testimonials from the first Pianists in the country, who, at our solicitation, have tested them in the severest manner possible, have been pronounced by all to be the GRAND SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MADE IN THIS WORLD.

We have always been proud during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, twelve thousand of which are now in use in the United States and Europe, to give the finest Instrument at the lowest cash price. Our superior facilities enable us to offer them from one to three hundred dollars less than any other First Class House.

The fine of these Instruments are remarkable for their peculiar sweetness and Great Brilliancy, never losing their quality when forced to the highest degree of capacity. The lower register retaining its positiveness does not destroy the middle and upper registers by mixing up with them in strange and sad confusion, the refined beauty of tone being equal to delightful to the unskilled ear as to the most cultivated ear.

They are an entirely new style of Piano, finished in the most superb manner, with fine full round corners, highly enriched by carved legs and Lyre serpentine Base richly moulded, and each instrument is fully warranted for five years. se22 d&wly

When Mr. Bancroft was presented to King William, of Prussia, the historian congratulated the king on Goethe's birthday. The king told him he had forgotten that, and that Mr. Bancroft must be a scholar, which is better than to be a king.

A Trafalgar hero, Robert Christie, has just died at Alloa, at the age of ninety-eight. He was engaged in nearly forty battles and skirmishes, and never received a wound; he retired in 1820 on a pension of twenty pounds, which he received until his death.

Lord Milton discovered gold enough in British Columbia to hammer, with his own noble hands, into a wedding ring for his bride.

WHEN MAXIMILIAN was twenty-one, he stood at Caserte, looking on the lovely gardens of the palace, and he wrote: "The staircase is worthy of royalty. What can be more superb than to fancy oneself the sovereign standing on the topmost step, suffering the tide of human beings to approach him from below? The rabble crawl slowly—the monarch sheds a generous smile which falls, as it were, from heaven, so great is the elevation at which he stands in his grandeur and in his might. Were Charles the Fifth or Marie Therese, suddenly to appear on the summit of this magnificent flight of marble steps, I should like to behold the man who would not unconsciously bow down to the dust before the majesty on whom God has conferred a holy power. The founder of Caserte has shown his sense of the divine source whence emanates this power, for this stupendous staircase opens into the chapel. Times alter, and mankind changes likewise. In the midst of this florid mass of marble and mosaic the black coats and ungraceful garments of the present generation appear like the ephemeral moth upon mantles of royal purple. And I, too, poor moth that I am, felt the same sensation of boundless pride which seized upon me in the palace of the Doge of Venice; and I could not help thinking how sublime must be the feelings experienced at certain moments of a sovereign's life—too solemn to be frequent—when standing on the highest step of this flight of marble steps, and looking down upon the rest of mankind, to feel himself the first in all creation, like the sun in the midst of the firmament."

WALTER SCOTT AT HOME.

Tender-hearted, loving old Walter Scott!—one of the few great men whose goodness equalled his greatness, one of the few great men whose "greatness" did not beckon him from out the domesticity of his own home, to find that "congeniality" which by modern tongues and pens is so much prated about. To this little, strong, good old man, his wife and children, his old dog Camp, and his pleasant talks and rambles with them, was "congeniality." His "genius" had the true ring to it; and though he would not have been human had he been indifferent to his fame as an author, he had too much heart to starve that for his head.

In his large green morocco elbow chair, in his "den," as he called it, in Edinburgh, he sat, and in one year, at fifty-two years of age, wrote three novels, Quentin Durward, Peveril of the Peak, and St. Ronan's Well, besides other things. Sometimes, when the inspiration was lacking, he would start up from his writing desk, saying: "I can make nothing of all this to-day; come, Maida, you thief;" and he would ramble out with his dog to a house where lived a dear little precocious child by the name of Marjorie Fleming. "White as a frosted plum cake, he exclaimed, as one snowy morning he took his plaid, and went to her house, of which, as a privileged friend, he had a latch key. In Sir Walter and the hound went shaking off the snow in the lobby. "Marjorie, Marjorie!" the old man would shout, "where are ye, my bonnie wee creedle do?" In a moment a little, eager, bright-eyed child of seven years leaped into his arms; he kissing her face all over. "Come in, Wattie," the mother would say. "No, no; I am going to take Marjorie home wi' me, and you may come to your tea in Duncan Ray's sedan, and bring the bairn home in your lap." "Tak' Marjorie, and it on ding a-snaw!" said Mrs. Keith. "Hoot awa'! look here," said Sir Walter, and he held up the corner of his plaid sewd up so as to make a bag. "Tak' your lamb," said Mrs. Keith, laughing at the ingenious contrivance; and so Marjorie, well wrapped, was put into the plaid bag, and Scott strode off through the snow with her, the great dog Maida gamboling after.

When he reached his own "den," he would take out the warm, rosy little creature, and for three hours the two would make the house ring with laughter, taking the free run of the room. He would set Marjorie in his big green morocco chair, and standing sheepishly before her, begin to say his lesson to her, and it was his lesson:

"Wou-ery, two-ery, tickery, seven;
Alibi, crackaby, ten and eleven:
Pin, pan—muskey, dan,
Tweedle-um, tweedle-um, twenty-wan;
Hey-bumbo, quatro,
You—are—out!"

He pretended great difficulty in saying it; and little Marjorie would rebuke him with cominon gravity, twaiting him, as if two years of age, wrote three novels, Quentin Durward, Peveril of the Peak, and St. Ronan's Well, besides other things. Sometimes, when the inspiration was lacking, he would start up from his writing desk, saying: "I can make nothing of all this to-day; come, Maida, you thief;" and he would ramble out with his dog to a house where lived a dear little precocious child by the name of Marjorie Fleming. Hey-bumbo, quatro,
You—are—out!"

He pretended great difficulty in saying it; and little Marjorie would rebuke him with cominon gravity, twaiting him, as if two years of age, wrote three novels, Quentin Durward, Peveril of the Peak, and St. Ronan's Well, besides other things. Sometimes, when the inspiration was lacking, he would start up from his writing desk, saying: "I can make nothing of all this to-day; come, Maida, you thief;" and he would ramble out with his dog to a house where lived a dear little precocious child by the name of Marjorie Fleming. "White as a frosted plum cake, he exclaimed, as one snowy morning he took his plaid, and went to her house, of which, as a privileged friend, he had a latch key. In Sir Walter and the hound went shaking off the snow in the lobby. "Marjorie, Marjorie!" the old man would shout, "where are ye, my bonnie wee creedle do?" In a moment a little, eager, bright-eyed child of seven years leaped into his arms; he kissing her face all over. "Come in, Wattie," the mother would say. "No, no; I am going to take Marjorie home wi' me, and you may come to your tea in Duncan Ray's sedan, and bring the bairn home in your lap." "Tak' Marjorie, and it on ding a-snaw!"

THE CROWNING OUTRAGE—NEGRO JURORS TO TRY WHITE MEN.

RICHMOND, September 13.—Col Burnham, detailed as Judge of the hustings court, charged the grand jury this morning. He said no distinction on account of color or caste will be allowed in the court.

Much, though not half enough, nor in terms half bitter and indignant enough, has been written and said in respect to the villainy of that usurping and therefore guilty legislation, outside of the Constitution, which has created Military Despotism in which the will of each military subordinate of Congress is the source of all law; and has cursed a ruined land with the infernal abomination of negro suffrage.

But there is another atrocious villainy, a crime for which even Congressional legislation affords no warrant, the spawn and issue of the wantonness of military tyranny, that has as yet excited little or no comment, although it is the last extremity of degradation to which the white men of the South, once free, have been or ever can be subjected. That it is borne in silence proves how completely the people of the Southern States are subjugated.

While the Civil War was raging, and the ardent and fiery-hearted secessionists spurned, as though it were a dishonour, the idea of returning into the Union on equal and honourable terms, and were ready to swear their children, as HAMILCAR did his son HANNIBAL, upon the altars of the Carthaginian Gods, to eternal hatred of Rome, not foreseeing that the day would come when they would favour reconstruction and covet negro votes,—the few surviving journals of the Confederate States were in the habit of painting in the gloomiest colors the imagined consequences of subjugation, to encourage the people to continue the desperate struggle, even when the cause had become hopeless, and success impossible. But no journal, that we remember, ever included among these consequences even negro suffrage, and still less even hinted at the trial of white men by negro jurors,—the crowning infamy and insult and most damnable atrocity of all. God forgive the Southern man who unites himself with those who perpetrate this brutal and beastly outrage; for it is impossible that his ruined country should forgive him, or that he should forgive himself?

The brief paragraph that heads this article is more eloquent to every man who thinks, than a thousand volumes of speeches and sermons.

"Colonel BURNHAM, detailed as Judge of the Hustings Court!" An officer of the army of the United States, shoulder-straps and jack-boots included, detailed to be Judge of a Court of civil and criminal jurisdiction! and ANDREW JOHNSON, wearing the rags of the Presidency of the United States, sits "serene as a summer morning" receiving his salary of $25,000 per annum, and the dishonours incident to his position, and permits this villainous outrage upon the Constitution to pass unchallenged, though encouraged to be a man and a patriot by a solemn decision of the Supreme Court, long since given, and in which even the Republican Judges, CURTIS and MCLEAN concurred, that the Congress can exercise no powers at outside of the Constitution; and although it has not the least power or right to invest military officers with arbitrary powers of government over territory acquired by conquest.

SICKLES, ex-New York Democratic Demagogue, and SHERIDAN, a few years ago Second Lieutenant, and SCHOFIELD in Virginia and North Carolina, and GRIFFIN in Texas, command that juries shall consist equally of whites and negroes. Hatred of the Southern people wears, with all of them, as it does with Congress, the mask of tender solicitude for the civil and political equality of the negro.

It is even suggested that JOHN H. SURRATT will not be tried again until Congress, eager to have him hung, in order to justify HUNTER'S Military Commission, HOLT and BINGHAM, shall have provided that all juries in the District of Columbia shall be half white and half negro, or wholly negro, as the Judge may please. An honest white jury failed to convict him. It will be easy to murder him by means of a jury of negroes,—as easy, almost, as to do it by a Military Commission, presided over by the saturnine malignity of a HUNTER, taking its law from a BINGHAM, and procuring its testimony by the exertions of a Bureau of Military Injustice conducted by a HOLT.

It is even probable that when JEFFERSON DAVIS, President of the Confederate States, is tried on the absurd charge of treason, after JOHNSON has ceased to be President, and WADE has become so, or some other Radical, who will not pardon Mr. DAVIS after conviction—when UNDERWOOD, a creature viler than SCHOOS, presides upon the trial, if the chief justice of the Supreme Court, with a lingering remnant of shame or decency declines to do it, the jury to try that illustrious man, and to be the judges of the law as well as the fact of treason, will be composed in part of negroes.

The utterly infamous legislation of Congress gives the negro the right to vote, but even it did not dive deep enough to declare him entitled to sit upon the juries to try white men accused of political offences, or ordinary crimes and misdemeanors.

It was never before imagined that even men invested with the right of suffrage, had also a right to be summoned to serve as jurors. In some of the States the duty of selecting the panels of jurors, grand and petit, has been confided to the county courts; in some it is entrusted to the Sheriffs. In all cases, the duty of the officer or tribunal to whom the duty is committed, is to select from the mass of the citizens only those who are both intelligent and respectable; and a Sheriff is justly deemed to deserve to be not only censured, but punished, who selects for jurymen the low, the degraded and the brutal of the populace.

To be selected as a juror is by no means a right or a franchise. No action ever lay for a freeman because a Sheriff declined to place him on a jury panel. Such an action would be laughed out of Court. If Congress, acting outside of the Constitution, had enacted that all juries in the Satrapies should be half white and half black, no one could, upon their own theory, deny them the power, outrageous and contemptible as its exercise would be as an act of low and vulgar spite. They have precisely the same power to enact that, as they had to invest the negro with the right of suffrage,—that is, not the right possessed by them as the Congress of the United States, but as the reconstructionary legislature of so many States or such a number of people, who have conquered and subjugated other States and other people.

But Congress has not exercised the power. Like the acts of SICKLES and SHERIDAN in forcing the company of negroes on white women in street-cars, the placing of negroes on juries is an exertion of arbitrary and despotic military power, sufficient of itself to make the names of their authors execrable.

To try men by a jury composed wholly or in part of ignorant negroes is to make the administration of civil and criminal justice a shameless and disgusting mockery. Richly as those who brand a people once free and proud with this last insult, deserve to be hung higher than HAMAN, no deceit Conservative would propose to resort, in order to procure their just punishment, to the iniquity of a negro jury.

So far from being a mode of attaining justice, is this new devilment of negro juries, that every man, even the bitterest Radical, who knows anything of the African race, feels it to be and knows it to be a detestable outrage on law, on private rights, on even the decencies that among civilized men atone for the absence of justice and generosity.

The system of jury trials in civil cases was fruitful enough of mischief and injustice, before despotism decided it to be the right of the negro to be selected to judge between man and man, and to decide intricate and complicated questions concerning law titles, adverse possession, the custom of merchants, contracts of insurance, shipping, limitation and prescription, and the like, receiving the law from the court, without the least comprehension of the terms and language used, and bound on their oaths to apply it to the facts of the case, which so many Brazilian monkeys could do just as well as they. It was bad enough to have to submit such matters to ignorant white men. To compel the submission of them to negroes is to rob men of their rights under colour and pretense of law, by a trial which is a show and a farce,—is a shameful, abominable, and rascally outrage, to characterize which in fitting terms, the bitterest epithets are inadequate.

If words fail us here, what are we to say of negro juries in criminal cases where white men are to be tried for offences the punishment whereof is deprivation of liberty or life, or even of reputation, good name and honour; and in trying which the negro juryman is to be our judge of the law as well as the facts? It is the first example of a legislation so damnable, in the whole six thousand years of the world's existence; and we can only regard it with a kind of stupefied amazement, and a burning and bitter, but silent and speechless indignation. There is no parallel of such legislation. The veriest despot has never descended so low as to make emancipated slaves the judges of conquered freemen. That extremity of loathesome infamy has been reserved for the uniformed minions of a "Republican" Congress; and to eulogize these minions for such acts has been reserved for the ORRS and others who were once the creme of democracy and fanatically enamored of the rights of the States.

It cannot be that the Congress will utterly damn itself and become a stench in the nostrils of all the civilized world, by directing the employment of a negro jury as a means of murdering SURRATT. Surely there is something that, even for it, is not possible; some depth of dishonour into which it will not willingly descend, however obsequiously it may heretofore have followed the American ROBESPIERRE. Would even a FISHER become an accomplice in such a villainy?

Are negroes to be summoned, under SCHOFIELD'S orders, to serve as jurymen, on the trial of JEFFERSON DAVIS for treason? Are there any honest hearts among the Northern Radicals, that would burn with indignation at so despicable and infamous an outrage? That UNDERWOOD will lend himself to this, we do not doubt: that the Chief Justice would do it, we are sorry to believe probable.

An Englishman, the subject of a Crown, legislated for by an omnipotent Parliament, cannot be deprived of his right to be tried by a jury of his peers. That right is solemnly guaranteed to every freeman by the Constitution of the United States. A jury of negroes, or in part composed of negroes, is not a jury of the peers of Mr. DAVIS, or even of JOHN H. SURRATT. Each is entitled to a trial by a jury of his own race and blood. So is every white man who is put on trial for an offence. The despotism of VITELLIUS and CARACALLA was loathsome and despicable enough, and reeks nauseously enough with the shame and slime of dishonour; but that of a republic that should use negro juries as instruments of judicial murder would be baser and more despicable still. The tongue that speaks praises, and the hand that writes fulsome and fawning eulogies on the despot who empannels negro juries to try white men, ought to be palsied forever.

Suit Decided Against Mrs. Gen. Williams (formerly Mrs. Douglas).

CHICAGO, September 27.—The widow of Stephen A. Douglas, now Mrs. Gen. Williams, entered a suit for right of dower, some time since, on real estate in the south part of this city, now worth $100,000. Although it was proved in the evidence that she had signed away her right of dower, she claimed an informality which vitiated the action. The trial has just taken place before Judge Wilson and he has decided against the claims of Mrs. Douglas.

THE "NASHVILLE" MUNICIPAL MUDDLE.

The threatened collision of the Militia and the Municipality at Nashville was prevented by the "balance of power" of United States forces under Gen. THOMAS, who received instructions from Gen. GRANT on Friday night, as follows:

WASHINGTON, September 27, 1867.

To Major-General G. H. Thomas:

I will send you further instructions to-morrow. Nothing is clearer, however, than that the military cannot be made use of to defeat the executive of a state in enforcing the laws of the State. You will not prevent the legal st. e force from the execution of its orders.

U. S. GRANT, General.

Gen. THOMAS construed this order "to sustain the State authorities in the execution of their orders." Their orders were to prevent the municipal authorities from opening polls.

On the day before, Gen. GRANT had telegraphed Gen. THOMAS as follows:

The military cannot set up to be the judges as to whose set of election judges have the right to control, but must confine their action to preventing or putting down hostile mobs. It is hoped, however, by seeing the governor and city officials here referred to, your presence and advice may prevent disturbance.

It is certain from this that Gen. GRANT did not intend to prevent the city from holding an election at first. All that the Mayor and Council asked was for both parties to hold an election and leave the legal questions involved to the courts. The effect of GRANT'S last instructions has been to defeat the judicial determination of the issue by the courts and determine the matter himself, and right in the face of his first decision to the contrary. He has done this as Commander-in-Chief of the army of the United States and by virtue of his military power, and in effect declared that the military is superior to the civil or judicial power. The fact that Gov. BROWNLOW (a State Executive) had ordered the Mayor not to hold the election, and had arrayed his military authority to prevent the decision being submitted to the courts, does not help the matter. The action of BROWNLOW was in itself contrary to and subversive of civil government, in assuming himself to be the sole judge of the law and its arbitrary interpreter. The United States Government is bound to respect the rights of the State courts, in their interpretation of the Constitution and laws. And these courts are a co-ordinate department of the State Government, which the United States must regard as superior, within their sphere, to the Executive of a State. If the State Executive undertakes to usurp judicial functions, the United States is doing a wrong and guilty of an oppression, in upholding him in it, by military force. We think that Gen. GRANT has committed this wrong in his late action, perhaps more from a failure to understand his duty than from a design to exceed his authority. It is one of the evils of permitting the military authority to exercise such delicate civil functions.

But the wrong has been done, and it is setting a precedent which will enable the people to see what is to be their fate, unless a speedy change shall be made in the principles which now govern this country—or in other words, until they return to Constitutional Government, when the civil are superior to the military, in time of peace. We can look upon this single act of Gen. GRANT in no other way than as a notification that the arm of military power is the governing power throughout the United States. His first position was in favor of civil supremacy. But in twenty four hours time, his views were revolutionized, so as to change the whole status of the question and assume to himself, as commander-in-chief, powers judicial in their character, and this, too, in determining the most delicate questions under a republican form of Government—questions which lie at the basis of the rights of the people, and upon the decision of which depend the most essential rights of freemen.

In addition to this view of the question we must say that we are somewhat surprised that President JOHNSON should surrender the determination of such a question to the General-in-Chief, after his recent removal of Gen. SICKLES for refusing to submit to the Judicial authority, by his famous Order No. 10. It seems to us to be a reversal of the principles upon which he removed SICKLES, with this exception, that the last case has occurred in a State of the Union, while the other usurpation was in one of the Military Provinces.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE SAYINGS OF DR. BUSHWHACKER, AND OTHER LEARNED MEN, by FRED. S. CozzENS, author of "Sparrowgrass Papers, etc. New York: A. Simpson & Co. 1867.

As a literary production, designed merely to entertain the rambling reader and enable him pleasantly to while away idle moments, this book will attract attention. But this is not its chief use. Through this agreeable medium, some of the most practical facts and the most recondite learning are communicated in the sprightly and conversational style adopted. There is an unctuous humor pervading all the papers, which keeps the reader pleased and interested in subjects otherwise abstruse and dry. Messrs. SIMPSON & Co. have established a reputation as first class publishers, by the elegant manner in which this work is brought out. The printing, paper and binding are exquisitely adapted to a work which will grace the center-table and the boudoir, and be a source of delight to both old and young. For sale in Memphis by GEO. PATTISON & Co.

A TREATISE ON EMOTIONAL DISORDERS OF THE SYMPATHETIC SYSTEM OF NERVES. By William Murray, M. D., M. R. C. P., Lond.; Physician to the Dispensary, etc. New York: A. S. Simpson, 60 Duane street. 1867.

These emotional disorders are the "skeleton in the house" of thousands of families, and they are seldom understood or treated with care and appreciation. The distinguished author of this work has pointed out their causes with a precision and clearness that the non-professional reader can readily understand and adopt, so as practically to apply them in his observations of these diseases. In this way Dr. MURRAY has rendered an essential service to the human family. These are diseases that every head of a household should know something of intelligently, and thus much intense suffering may be prevented or promptly checked. And not only families, but single persons of both sexes, should study this interesting and useful work, with reference to causes that are general in their application. We very much doubt whether the diseases pointed out by Dr. MURRAY are not the causes of more prolonged suffering and sorrow than any others in the whole range of medical science or moral influence. Why they should not be made a special study by all men, we are unable to see. They should by no means be monopolized by the medical faculty. General acquaintance with the principles here developed will defeat empiricism and imposture, give hope, comfort and assurance to thousands of sufferers, and point out clearly the mode by which much untold anguish may be avoided, and many reclaimed, from a life of burdensome grief, to happiness and usefulness. The publisher has gotten out this book in the most attractive and elegant style. The binding is superb, and the letter-press clear and beautiful.

A NOBLE ENTERPRISE.

JAMES V. DRAKE, Esq., is about ready to issue from the press a life of the late lamented General ROBERT HATTON. His object is to get up a fitting memoir of the distinguished subject, and after defraying the expenses of the work, erect over his grave a monument worthy to mark the place where sleep the remains of one that every true son of Tennessee should delight to honor. We have seen some of the advance sheets of Mr. DRAKE'S book, and are more than pleased with the manner in which he has gotten it up. It will be a worthy and just tribute, and a valuable contribution to our literature. We hope to see the work in every family in the State. It will be ready for the public by the first of the coming month. Enclose $3 00 to the author at Nashville and get a copy. The book will be elegantly printed, and will contain a life-like portrait of General HATTON.

—The Polytechnic college of Pennsylvania, began its fifteenth annual session in Philadelphia Tuesday. The classes were well filled, particularly in the mining and engineering departments.

WANTED—THE PATENT
AURORA OIL.

We want men every where to study their own INTEREST. The right to manufacture and sell the Patent Aurora Oil in a single county will make more money to the purchaser in three months than the largest farm in your State will make in a whole year. The Aurora Oil actually costs less than one-half the price of Coal Oil, and the illuminating power of the Aurora Oil is as much superior to the Coal Oil as the Coal Oil is to a tallow candle, and is NO MORE explosive than a tallow candle. Any lamp that will burn Coal Oil will burn the Aurora Oil. It does not smoke the chimney—it does not smell—it will not grease or stain the finest linen—not even white cloth. The material for its manufacture is inexhaustible, one man can make seventy-five barrels per day. No machinery need. We will pay your fare to and from the city of Memphis and bills while here, if we cannot prove all, and even more, than we have stated. A single county is a small fortune to the man of enterprise, and the right to a State is untold wealth.

EXTENSIVE sales of pianos, carriages and buggies, by Royster, Trezevant & Co., this morning. See advertisement.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—To Mr. McCormick, of the Southern express, we are indebted for a file of papers of the latest dates from Louisville, Chattanooga, and northwestern Louisiana.

BOARD OF HEALTH.—The board of health held an informal meeting at the Gayoso House yesterday morning. No important business was transacted. They adjourned to meet there to-day at 12 o'clock.

MAYOR AND ALDERMEN.—The regular monthly meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen will be held this afternoon when several matters of importance will come up, not among the least of which will be the recent suspension of the city engineer by the mayor.

FIRE YESTERDAY MORNING.—The alarm of fire about 5 o'clock yesterday morning was occasioned by the burning of a small frame building on Charleston avenue, near the corner of Jefferson street. The building was unoccupied, and the burning must have been caused by incendiarism.

THE DAUGHTER OF AN EMPRESS. Messrs. Geo. Pattison & Co., 312 Main street, have just received by express a fresh supply of this charming work by Mulbach, the eminent German authoress. It is from the press of D. Appleton & Co., New York, and is embellished with beautiful engravings.

THE CHAIN GANG.—The number of men employed upon the chain gang yesterday was but twenty-eight, which shows either a falling off of crime in Memphis or a more plentiful supply of stamps among the criminals than on days gone by. Only eight persons were confined in the first district yesterday.

THE TABERNACLE.—In consequence of the indisposition of Maj. M. W. Clusky, no lecture will be delivered at the Tabernacle to-night. On next Tuesday night it is to be hoped that the widows and orphans will have a good benefit. Should Major Clusky be well enough to appear the house will be crowded.

CAUGHT.—One Stephen Dauer was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued by Mr. Justice Walton, charged with stealing a lot of clothing, with a quantity of table linen, from Mr. Schemmer, on Adams street. He will come up for examination before Mr. Justice Walton to-day, when his guilt or innocence will probably be decided upon.

A STRAW BAIL CASE.—Jim Richards, one of the parties arrested some time since charged with robbing the store of Lyon, Fies & Co., corner of Main and Jefferson, got out on what the police seemed to think was straw bail. Curly McCune, of the detective force, rearrested him yesterday and put him in the Adams street prison. What further disposition will be made of his case remains to be seen.

HOLMES & WHARTON.—The card of these gentlemen appeared in our columns several days since, and from an acquaintance with them, can assure our readers of their claims to a liberal support. They are young men of good business qualities, unquestioned probity, and will give their attention to all business in their line intrusted to the firm. They are located on Madison street between Main and Second streets, corner of alley.

HORSE STEALING.—The horse thieves, who have been for months prowling in and around our city, are no respecters of persons or institutions, as the Rev. Mr. Collins, who resides at the female state college, found out—some of these vagabond thieves having entered his stables on Sunday night, and stolen therefrom two fine horses. A full description of the animals has been given to the police, and it is to be hoped that the guilty parties may soon be brought to justice.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI. This institution has opened with two hundred students, and a good prospect for another hundred. This is regarded as a decided indication of a successful session. Considering the scarcity of money, the failure of the crops,—the signal failure, in the richest portion of the surrounding country, the friends of the institution could not have anticipated a more prosperous opening. Most of the students are in the regular classes.

FOR NOT REPORTING.—Our attention has been called to the fact that there exists an ordinance requiring physicians to report to the health officer all cases of contagious diseases which he may attend. Failing to perform that duty, he is liable to a heavy fine, which, if it is not, should be rigidly enforced, so that the proper authorities may be daily informed of the health of the city, and whether any cases of contagious diseases exist in our midst or not.

EMMONS & SON, No. 10 Jefferson street, and 393 Main street, have received Harper's Weekly, Police Gazette, Police News, Day Book, London News, London Weekly Times and Daily Times, Scientific American, Scottish American, Munroe's New Dime Novel—Tuscaloosa Sam, German Leslie, American Union, True Flag, Army and Navy Journal, Gleason's Companion, Good Words, Sunday Magazine, Blackwood Magazine, Pen and Pencil Magazine, Quarterly Review, Phunny Phellow, French Papers.

THE MAGAZINES.—The October number of The Land We Love, edited by Gen. D. H. Hill, has been received. It is fully up to the work of any preding numbers. Indeed we think we detect an improvement in each successive number, in the quality of literary sketches, as well as in the general care with which it is gotten up. The Riverside Magazine for Young People. The October number has made its appearance, and is in no respect inferior to its predecessors. There is no family circle in which it should not be a welcome visitor.

THE NIAGARA EXCURSION.

LETTER FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

ON BOARD THE ADAM JACOBS,
OFF CAIRO, September 27.

So far nothing has occurred to mar the pleasure of our journey, barring the fact that owing to a dense fog we were compelled to tie up for five hours last night off the classic port of Osceola, but owing to the excitement attending our departure, and having tripped the "light fantastic" until the "wee sma hours," and then sought our couches, we were in happy ignorance of it, until we were summoned to breakfast this morning; but the prospect of having to spend another day on the boat has not dampened our spirits in the least, as our friend of the cuisine, John Smith, has an excellent larder, and knows how to serve it up, whilst "By." and the genial Masson season it with smiles and jests. But whilst Anthony is tuning his violin, the champagne corks are flying and toasts to "those we left behind," and "to those we expect to meet," are being drank, let me explain to your readers who and what our party is. Well, it is composed as follows: F. A. Tyler, (of the Ledger), and lady, Miss Lizzie Nelson, Lou and Irene Ravner, Corinne Cleaves, Lou Hullum, Lucy McClink, Mittie Wicks, Josie Gwynn, Ella McConnico, Mary E. Mitchell, Belle Goinner and Minnie Shelby, Mrs. Ben. May, Mrs. Calkins, W. O. Woodsey and lady, Col. Sam. Carey, Mississippi Central railroad, A. S. Barnes, Memphis and Charleston railroad, C. P. Oakley, Mississippi and Tennessee railroad, J. W. Rockwell, Nashville and Decatur railroad, W. C. McClure, J. A. Simsigo, Robt. L. Hammock, and Capt. Jas. W. Crocker, who are on an expedition, the objective point of which is Niagara Falls, and should they excel in altitude some of the waterfalls we have in the company, we shall be amply repaid for our journey. The party is chaperoned by Mr. Barnes, but at present we are the guests of E. B. Byington, Esq., the well-known general passenger agent of the "old reliable" St. Louis packet company, who, together with Capt. Crane and Mr. Wasson, have left nothing undone to render our trip up the "big muddy" as agreeable as it possibly could be, and so far their efforts have been crowned with marked success.

We expect to reach St. Louis early Sunday morning, and to join a large party which leaves there that evening for Niagara via. the Alton and Chicago road, stopping over Monday at the latter city to see the sights, during which time your reporter hopes to get an insight into the ways by which the quid nunes of that city get up such stunning sensation items every day in the week; and from that city you may expect to hear from me again.

I shall not bore you with a description of our trip so far, as the Father of Waters at the present low stage presents anything but an inviting view. And as the dancers are "whiling the happy hours away," I'll bring this to a close.
More anon. SPECIAL.

THE BEST IN THE CITY.—It is with pleasure we call the attention of our fair readers to the large stock of millinery and trimming goods to be found at C. Doherty's, corner of Main and Union streets, where will be found on exhibition the best stock of goods ever introduced into this market. Among the almost endless styles of hats and bonnets the following are worthy of especial notice: The "Flirt," "Venus," "Belle," "Charlotte, Cordey," "Mousquetaire de la Reine," with many others of like beauty, with a large selection of fashionable head dresses, French flowers and ribbons of all sorts and descriptions, with the vast amount of trimmings usually kept at this well known and popular establishment. Her stock of goods was partially selected in the east, while the bulk of the goods were imported direct from Europe for the house. The millinery department is under the direction of an accomplished young lady who thoroughly understands the business, and never fails to please the most fastidious, be she maid or matron. The grand affair of the season will be the opening of an elegant assortment, which takes place at the spacious show rooms, corner of Main and Union streets, tomorrow morning. Let our ladies attend and see for themselves.

LIFE INSURANCE.—The Ætna Life Insurance company, of Hartford, Conn., is one of the most substantial and well managed companies in existence. Its small ratio of expense (in management), under that of other companies, and the ability of its old practical directors, is the real cause of its paying so large a dividend to the policy-holder, thereby one cannot find cheaper and more reliable insurance. But one company issued as many policies last year, the Ætna's being upwards of thirteen thousand (being more than one-tenth of about one hundred and thirty thousand issued by about forty companies). This at once proves its high standing, universal popularity, equitable rates and liberal conditions with the southern people. Messrs. Moore & West, the general agents, at 224 Madison street, will take pleasure in showing (all wanting policies), its comparison in all respects with other companies and the many plans and their advantages.

INNOCENT AMUSEMENT.—Some of our lawyers have lately proceeded from words to more persuasive arguments in the shape of nature's weapons (i. e. fists) Not long since two of the legal profession engaged in a small game in the court of Justice Miller, for which they were fined, and all was quiet. Yesterday two others of the profession got into an argument of the same kind in the circuit court, when law books and other convenient weapons, as well as bunches of flevs, were used. His honor, Judge Rives, fined the parties fifty dollars each, which seemed to be satisfactory to the beligerents. No fear is at present entertained of coffee and pistols being ordered for two, on account of this little affair.

THE LEE BLOCK.—Who has not heard of the R. E. Lee block, on Union street? We suppose every man, woman and child in Memphis has heard of it and knows its precise location. What we intended to say was that in this famous building are domiciled some of the most enterprising, thorough-going and reliable cotton factors and grocers to be found in our city, who command immense amounts of money, and whose dealings are charterized by strict regard to the interests of their customers. Among the grocers and cotton factors stands the firm of Messrs Price & Treadwell, whose stock of groceries is unsurpassed. They understand their business thoroughly, and will render satisfaction in every case. Their card appears elsewhere.

DE EUROPE.—As will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, the well known hotel De Europe will be leased for a term of five years. This is a good investment for an enterprising man. Further particulars may be gained on application to Messrs. Kenny & Porter, in the Kit Williams Block.

A CARD.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

I called upon the local editor of the Memphis Bulletin yesterday evening and asked him to call the attention of the young men and members of the Howard Association to a meeting to-night at the editorial rooms of the APPEAL. Mr. Philp refused to grant this favor unless I paid twenty cents per line. I offered him twenty cents per line, when he coolly informed me I would have to write the notice myself. I only mention this fact for the benefit of other benevolent associations in future, and let the public know who are our own southern friends in time of sickness or trouble.
R. W. AINSLIE,
President Howard Association.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Editors Memphis Appeal:

Many of your readers would like to hear from different localities of the action of presbyteries of the Presbyterian church this fall. Presbytery of Nashville meets at the Hermitage church, the second church of the hero who was a lover of the church as well as his country. Rev. John W. Neil chosen moderator. Reports of good feeling and revival interest come up from many of our churches. The following action was taken:

Resolved, That presbytery adopt the form of government, canons of discipline and rules of order, as sent down from the general assembly.

Had a pleasant session and good preaching. DELTA.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

"Through the press we make known our grievances."

In behalf of the traveling public as well as those living in the immediate vicinity, I would direct attention to the crossing on the southeast corner of Third and Winchester streets. A cataract varying in magnitude to that of "Lodore," hurls itself into the old Bayou or "Vauxhall" garden, crushing and sweeping earth and brick in its course. Broken limbs and a suit for damages against the city can be saved by attention to this forbidding place. H.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION.

Some of our most enterprising and public-spirited young men have formed a Howard Association, for the purpose of providing for proper attention to the sick in case of epidemic. Forewarned is forearmed. We trust that our moneyed men will not be backward in sustaining them with such funds as they may need, to carry out their benevolent and charitable enterprise. Our most intelligent physicians do not anticipate any such infection, as the season is now too far advanced to justify any calculation of that sort. But it is right to prepare for the worst, and not to be taken unawares. Indeed it would pe wise to have this society organized as a permanent institution, so that in case of future epidemics we may have an abundance of good nursing and attention to the sick. It is now in the right hands, and we ask that the citizens will rally around the young gentlemen who have inaugurated the measure. Our friend, R. W. AINSLIE, is President of the Association, and in his Presidency our citizens have the guarantee of energetic management. The Association will meet at the editorial rooms of the APPEAL to-night at eight o'clock, when those who desire to enter into this charitable work are invited to be present.

THE "MARBLE HEART."—The play of the Marble Heart, or the Sculptor's Dream, was produced at the New Memphis Theater last night to a fair audience. The prologue, the student's dream, was well put on the stage, and endorsed the scenic artist and master machinist as perfect in their art. Miss Boyd did not seem at home in the character of "Marie." The part seems too young for her; however, in her most simple speeches, she did not fail to elicit applause. Mrs. Allen played "Marco" rather acceptably, but seemed to be at a loss occasionally. The parting scene with "Marco," in the third act was slightly overdone. The "Raphael Duchatlet" of Mr. Frank Roche was excellent, and his every appearance was greeted with applause. Mr. Ellerton produced a good impression in the "Viscount." Mr. France done the "Editor" very well, but was quite over dressed to suit the bohemians of Memphis. Such styles might have done for '54, but just now none but the river locals can afford "sich." Miss Fanny Pierson, who played "Clementine," done it well. She has already become popular with our people. The minor characters were well sustained. To-night, Miss Belle Boyd will appear as the "Countess," in the beautiful play of The Serf. We understand that on Friday a grand complimentary benefit will be tendered to Miss Boyd by some of our most prominent bankers and citizens.

THE COURTS.

CHANCERY COURT.—Convened in special session on yesterday. Case of Hardin vs. Avery was taken up and jury sworn to try issues of fact. This case is remarkable, from the fact that it is the first jury case in this court since the reorganization of our courts at the close of the war. Hill vs. Bradly has been specially set for hearing to-day. The following decrees were entered: Braden vs. Wylie, final decree; Ryder vs. Moore et al., do; Gulsman vs. same et al. do; Meath vs. Posten et al. do.

UNITED STATES COURT.—The case of Maples vs. Bridges continues to occupy the attention of the court, and will last several days. The injunction case of Dean vs. Gayoso gas company was taken up and papers and exhibits in the same read. No argument was made.

SHELBY COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT.—P. H. Noakes, indicted for horse stealing, was found guilty and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. Jacob Thompson, charged with same offense, was placed on trial on yesterday. The jury was not fully made up. It will be taken up this morning and proceeded with.

TRANSFER OF REAL ESTATE.—E. N. Case, jr., et ux. to Linda S. Paine, mortgage, part of subdivision Nos. 1 and 2, of lot noted as No. 1, in block No. 55, in plat of South Memphis, being 118 feet on Lauderdale street, by 60 feet; Same to Emanuel S. Case, deed, same property, conveyed alone, $2240; Geo. H. Stovall to John R. SECOND DRAWING

—OF THE—

Southern Asylum

LAND COMPANY,

TO TAKE PLACE AT

HERNANDO, MISS.,

AUGUST, 1867.

THE First Drawing, which took place at Hernando, Miss., on the 15th inst., was attended with unusual success, when it is remembered that but a few weeks elapsed from the inception of the enterprise to that event. $17,000 worth of tickets having been sold, a like amount of property was drawn for, under the supervision of gentlemen selected by the ticket holders present. The utmost harmony and good feeling pervaded those present, and, as will be seen from the subjoined certificate of the Managers, the affair was conducted to a close in a most gratifying and satisfactory manner:

HERNANDO, Miss., June 15, 1867.

We hereby certify that the above report of the First Drawing of the Southern Asylum is correct, and that the proceedings were characterized by a spirit of fairness and justness unsurpassed by drawing of which we have any knowledge. The Managers of the Company placed the tickets and wheels under our sole management and control.

Signed:

J. B. MORGAN,
ROBERT W. BLEW,
V. A. MERRIWETHER,
W. W. CAMPTON,
JAMES FEW,
JOHN AINSLIE,

J. M. HALL, Clerk.

The Prizes drawn on this occasion numbered Forty-seven, and comprised lots in the vicinity of Memphis, Tenn., Corinth, Miss., and Hernando, Miss., deeds to which have been made to the lucky ticket-holders. MEMPHIS APPEAL.

A MOTHER'S WISH.

"If I were a fairy—
Now listen to me—
And had the power to grant a wish,
What should the baby be?
Would you wish these little hands
Might gather wealth unto d?
Would you wish this little head
Might win a crown of gold?

"Would you wish this prattling tongue
Might sway the hearts of all?
Would you wish a golden crown
Upon these curls to fall?
Tell me, mother of my boy,
Now, what should I bestow?
Everything is possible
To fairies, you must know."

"If you were a fairy,"
The gentle mother said,
"And you could grant my simple wish
As soon as it had aped,
I'd have you stay the flight of years
For him upon my knee,
That he may never, never change,
But still my baby be!"

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL,
MEMPHIS, September 30, 1867.

Gold opened in New York at 43½, and closed at 43¾. In this market there was the usual light offerings which have characterized the past two weeks, but the prices paid were much nearer the New York quotations than on Saturday. Buying at 42c.

Silver is bought at 33 to 35c.

City scrip is dull at 90c is the offering rate; selling at 95 to 98c.

County warrants are in demand, and holders are not disposed to sell at our quotations Dealers generally have but a small amount on hand; 80 to 85c are the offering figures; selling at 85c.

Police scrip is in moderate demand at 86c; selling at 88 to 90c.

Exchange is about equal to the demand with no change in rates since last week. There is a growing demand for New Orleans exchange, which sells at ¾ premium. Eastern sight is held at ¾ premium, but between bankers transactions are made at par, and in a few instances at ⅛ premium on the $.

Notwithstanding the closeness of the money market and the general depression of business for the past three months, we look for very favorable statements from all our banks, now that the end of the quarter has arrived. Money for the past few days has been easier, with less application for discounts than usual, and more disposition to accommodate. Deposits are increasing, and upon the whole there is more ease than at any time for months.

The last mail from Madrid to Havana brought an abrogation of the new and an order for a restoration of the old system of taxation, as Gen. Manzano had proposed to the home government.

The coinage of Austria is at last about to be civilized. A coinage treaty between France and Austria was concluded at Paris on the 31st of July, by the two plenipotentiaries, M. M. Parieu and Hoch. According to this treaty Austria will issue gold coin of the value of five francs, equal to two Austrian florins; ten francs, equal to four Austrian florins; twenty-five francs, equal to ten Austrian florins; fifty francs, equal to twenty Austrian florins; and one hundred francs, equal to forty Austrian florins. Austria engages to withdraw the present silver currency of the empire by the 1st of January, 1873, and from that date no larger amount than six francs per head of the population of either empire is to be in circulation in silver, and no one is to be compelled to receive more than fifty francs in silver in any payment.

J. H. Wiggin, treasury agent in New York city, reports that he has caused an attachment to be made upon the personal property of Mr. Henry Hart, of New York, to the amount of $60,000, to indemnify the United States for losses alleged to have been sustained through the frauds of himself and accomplices.

Judge Parker, of the circuit court of the state of Virginia, has rendered a decision that, if old banks make assignments under the act of February, 1868, they cannot give a reference to any class of creditors; the bank-note-holders have no preference over depositors, and that deposits in Confederate money are to be treated as debts of the bank to the extent of their value at the time of deposit.

Secretary McCulloch has issued a circular forbidding employees of the treasury department to furnish any information to persons connected with the public press, unless by special permission from the head of the bureau. He also directs that no newspaper man be allowed in any room of the department, unless on business with the department. He further states that any violation of this rule will subject the employees to immediate dismissal.

The secretary informed the correspondents that he was obliged to issue this order, owing to the many misstatements, intentional and unintentional, put out by minor officials of the department; and to prevent if possible the deliberate manufacture of financial paragraphs, with a view to injure the credit of the government. He animadverted severely on one appearing in the Washington correspondence of the Boston Post, and copied into the New York papers of yesterday, relative to the sale of twenty millions of gold and the national bank reserves; and he authorized it to be denounced as a pure fabrication. This paragraph, in the main, prompted the official order. The Washington journals are very indignant over the new order.

The Jefferson Insurance company of this city closed up its business yesterday. Its president, Mr. R. D. Goodlett, who has but recently returned from the north, has concluded to devote his attention to the improvement of his real estate, while Mr. P. H. Davie, the cashier, also has business of a private nature which will preclude that attention which he has heretofore bestowed upon the interests of the company. In retiring they carry with them the unbounded confidence of our citizens. We must not omit this opportunity of returning to them our thanks for information always placed at our disposal in that straightforward business way which has characterized their intercourse with all.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

Sunday was a hot and sultry day, while yesterday morning was almost cold enough for frost. The day, however, was warm—just the kind to nourish chills and fever. The river is falling slowly at this point. The Arkansas is on a stand, with twenty inches to Little Rock and thirteen inches to Fort Smith. There is no change to report in White river. There is three and a half feet at Little Island, but flat and in bad condition. From here to Cairo boats have less trouble, but it is owing to the light freights they carry—not to the river, which is still bad, with 4½ feet at Phillips'. The Ohio continues low—very—with about 22 inches on the worst bars to Louisville. At St. Louis they look for a small swell. It has gone up at Keokuk some 10 or 12 inches, and no doubt has risen a little already at St. Louis. The Missouri is in fair condition from the mouth to Leavenworth—to Omaha in fact, for aught we know to the contrary. Illinois unchanged.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The swift steamer Marble City, Capt. Tchudi, will leave to-day for Cairo and St. Louis, at 5 p.m. She is one of the best in the line, and is a general favorite with travelers.

The St. Patrick came in from Vicksburg yesterday on one wheel. She picked up a snag on her way up, which carried away a few outriggers, knocked down her gallows frame, and broke away the siding around her starboard wheel. By the energy, however, of her owners, she will as usual get away to-day all right, at 5 p.m. She brought up thirty-four bales of cotton, most of which was of the new crop. Garrett Huls is master, and Clay Rice is her popular and energetic clerk.

Capt. Flem Calvert, superintendent of the St. Louis packet company, departed for St. Louis last evening, to see his family, and be present at the great Fair. We are chary of speaking of Capt. Flem to his face, but now that he is gone we say that no gentleman has more friends than Capt. Flem, and that the line which he represents owes much of its deserved popularity here to the uniform courtesy and intrinsic worth of its energetic and able superintendent.

The Bridgeport, bound for Vicksburg, is now being painted and outlined at Island 34; also the Shark and Bee, with their barges. The Yankee and barges are over. This is now the worst point between here and Cairo.

The American did not get away last night for Little Rock. She is advertised to leave to-day at 5 p.m. She is light draft, and is commanded by Capt. Ed. Nowland.

Col. Bob Crockett, the gallant soldier-poet and Arkansas fisherman, who caught trout in Thompson's creek, and a cold by sleeping with the pickets, is in town.

The fine steamer Commercial came in from White river with about forty bales of new cotton. She had some trouble on her last up trip at Little Island, but went through to Augusta with one of the largest trips ever carried to that port. She had over 2000 packages for that point alone, besides leaving the largest cargo ever left at Des Arc. The Commercial returns to-day at 5 p.m. Capt. Ashford is master, and Messrs. Norton, Smithers and Robinson, clerks.

The White river trade is becoming very large, and Capt. Davis is now making arrangements to put in another boat—a Thursday packet. It is said that he has secured the Ozark for that purpose, and will run her regularly until a larger side wheel boat can be obtained. Capt. John J. Edson, who is second to no man as a competent and popular master, will command the new packet.

The gay little Pilgrim will progress towards the Arkansas to-day. She is a home boat and needs no praise. No bar, however visible, can stop her. Capt. Ike Whittaker, whose fame on the Guidon was well earned, is at the bell rope of this handsome packet, while J. Lee Finger and Andy Granger are her clerks.

We learn that the Dan Able is now in better trim than ever before. Her speed has been increased, and she will resume her place in the Vicksburg line on Saturday next.

The Natoma leaves to-day at 5 p.m. for Mariana. Fred. Brigham is clerk.

The Starlight got over French Island bar on the 27th, but her freight and barges were still above the bar, upon which but twenty-two inches could be found after two hours sounding.

The Nellie Rogers, Naples packet, on her last trip halted at the barge Emily, sunk at Apple creek last May, and raised it with the aid of her syphon pumps.

W. H. Keefe, a well known Arkansas pilot, is running the bar on the Victory.

Mr. John Highman, of Alton, was one of the participants in the excursion at the first trial trip of Fulton's first steamboat. He was at the time a mere boy, and his father being a friend and companion of Fulton, was invited by the latter to accompany him on the steamer's trial trip, and young John was included in the invitation. Mr. Highman still retains recollections of many incidents that took place upon the occasion.

The Lauve Navigation Insurance companies refuse to insure freight on barges hereafter.

The following boats are laid up at and around Cincinnati: At the foot of Ludlow street, R. R. Hudson, Peerless, Darling, Sam. Parker, Edinburg and Carrie Williams. The Annie White and C. E. Hillman next above. The Hillman will be dismantled. The pilot house packet Fire King and a steam yacht, newly built, together with the other boats of the regatta, below the water works; also the Bostona. The Emperor and Kanawha on the Eureka docks. The Lawrence, John H. Groesbeck, Golden Eagle, Alice Dean, Emerald, Swallow, Leonidas, Emma No. 3, Melinotte, Shamrock and Kate Bateman, are lying at Fulton. Above them are the Wild Duck and bar
